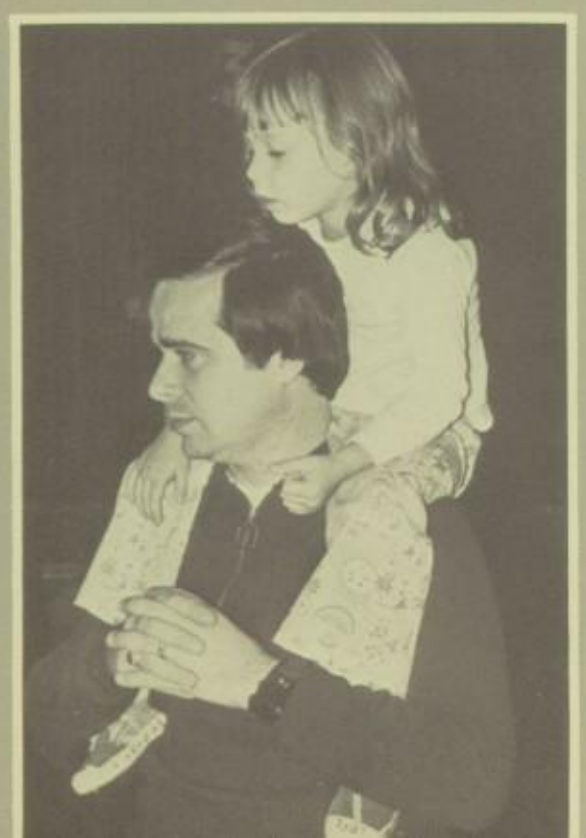
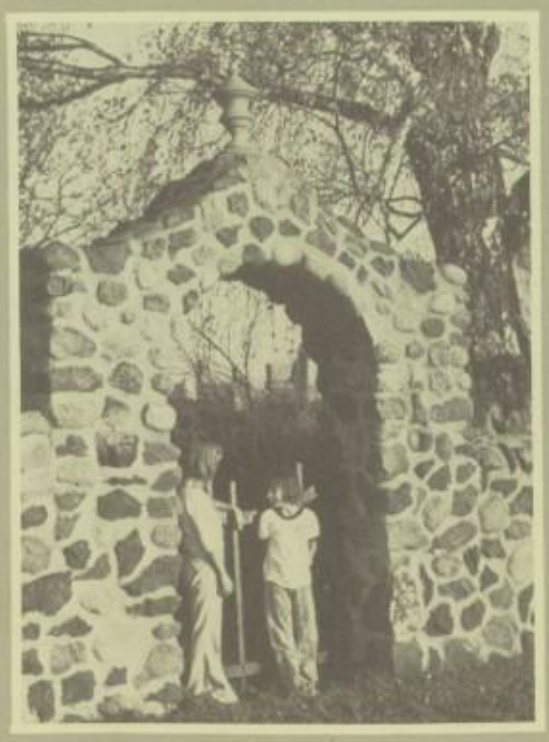
LANCE '75 . . . LANCE '75 . . . LANCE '75 . . . LANCE

A LOVING LIFE IS . . .
a small beginning with bitty breathes and teensy faces . . . with tiny steps and a kiss on the cheek . . . with a winning boyish smile. Real life is a series of all these things knit tightly together with time. It's a "girl-to-girl" chat at "our" favorite spot (the old stone gate) . . . it's thinking about the future and seeing the passing of old and cherished landmarks . . .

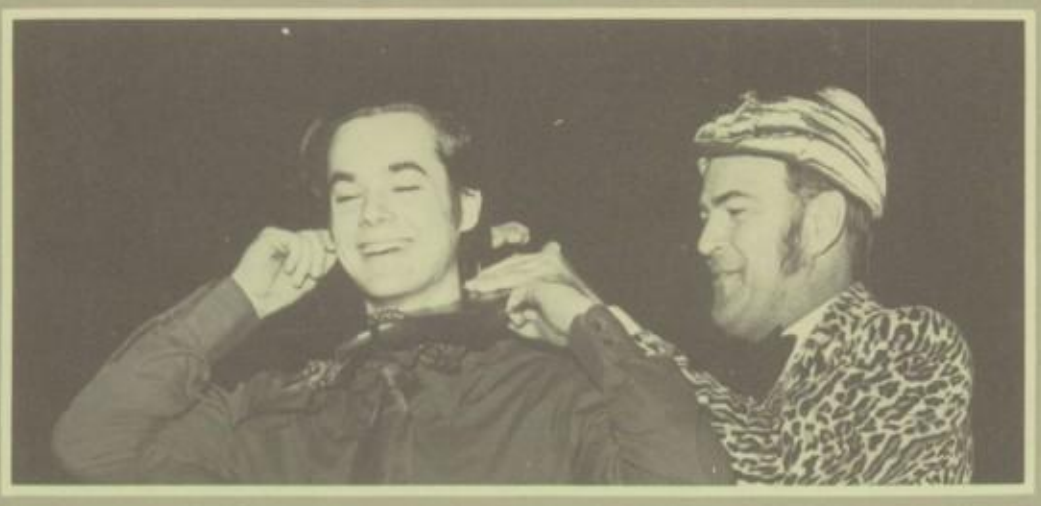




it's sharing the way with others and putting your mind into things that are new, fascinating and scientific. Life is seeing the teachers in a different, more interesting way. Life is the pleasant use of spare time to play cards with a friend or share food with the foodless (as Christ urged!)

Life is a mixture of fun-things like getting dumped in a mud puddle by your buddies . . . or sharing time and cotton candy . . . or being a part of life-building things like planning committees . . . or working out experiments . . . or dressing up in outlandish costumes and enjoying it.

Life is a blend of the old things that remain and the things that we now create in art and music and dance.



Life is some games to be played, some to be watched . . . it's being passed up and being rewarded . . . it's delights of the mind and food for the stomach. Mix it all together and eat heartily and you have lived your life fully . . . and maybe we'll meet at the cross-roads!

People

A cantankerous old wag once remarked that he loved humanity, but it was people he couldn't stand! But, really, that's to beg the question, since "humanity" —in practical terms — is made up of people, all kinds of people: big ones, wee ones, smart ones, fun-loving ones, those who teach and those who learn, the participators and the watchers, the lovable and the hard-to-love. The problem is to accept them all to our hearts . . . the answer, maybe, is "understanding with love"!

PEOPLE

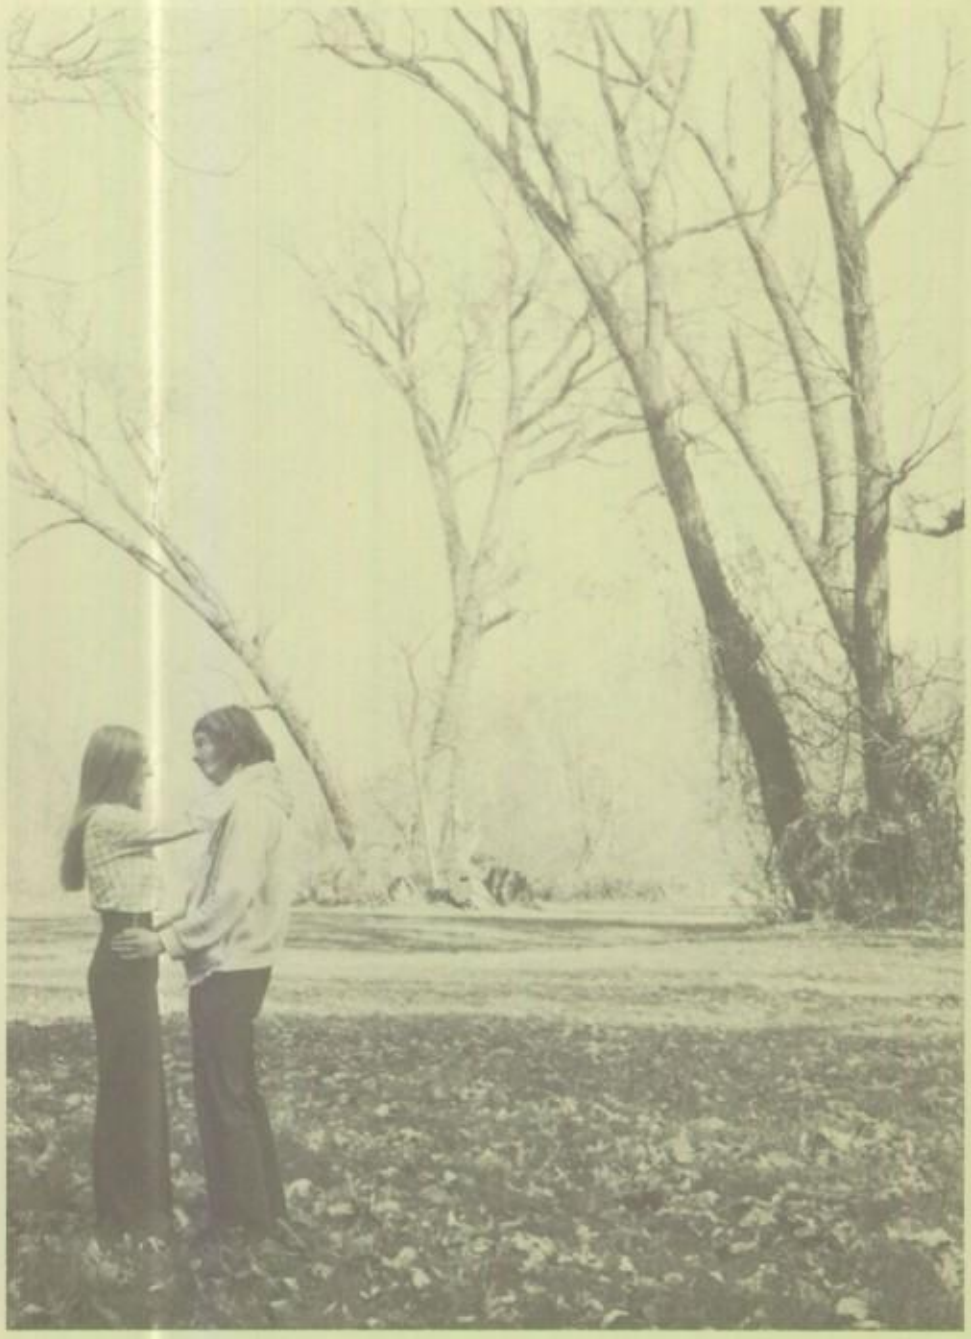
Class Of '75

Four years or one thousand four hundred and sixty-one days . . . together . . . or maybe it would be better to say growing together, growing closer, like coral organisms forming a tight-knit reef . . . unit by unit . . . body by body . . . yes, thought by thought. That's what makes a "unified class" . . . people moving together who were completely different at the start . . . to see the disintegration of cliques and "kaffee klutches" that are only sorry remnants of exclusivism . . . to be able to say you're sorry to one another without humiliation . . . to come to the needs of those you have started to love: this is the beginning of community. When these people in this section have spent over a thousand days, I guess we can really call them THE CLASS OF 1975!

Jane Wisniewski (Treasurer), Dan Oles (President), Mr. Richard Morgante and Mr. Henry Even (Co-moderators), Joy Smith (Secretary), Carol Campanella (Vice-President).

Did you know one of the cooks has rabies?

The pictures I can read. it's the words that confuse me.



But I don't have a steady boy friend, really!

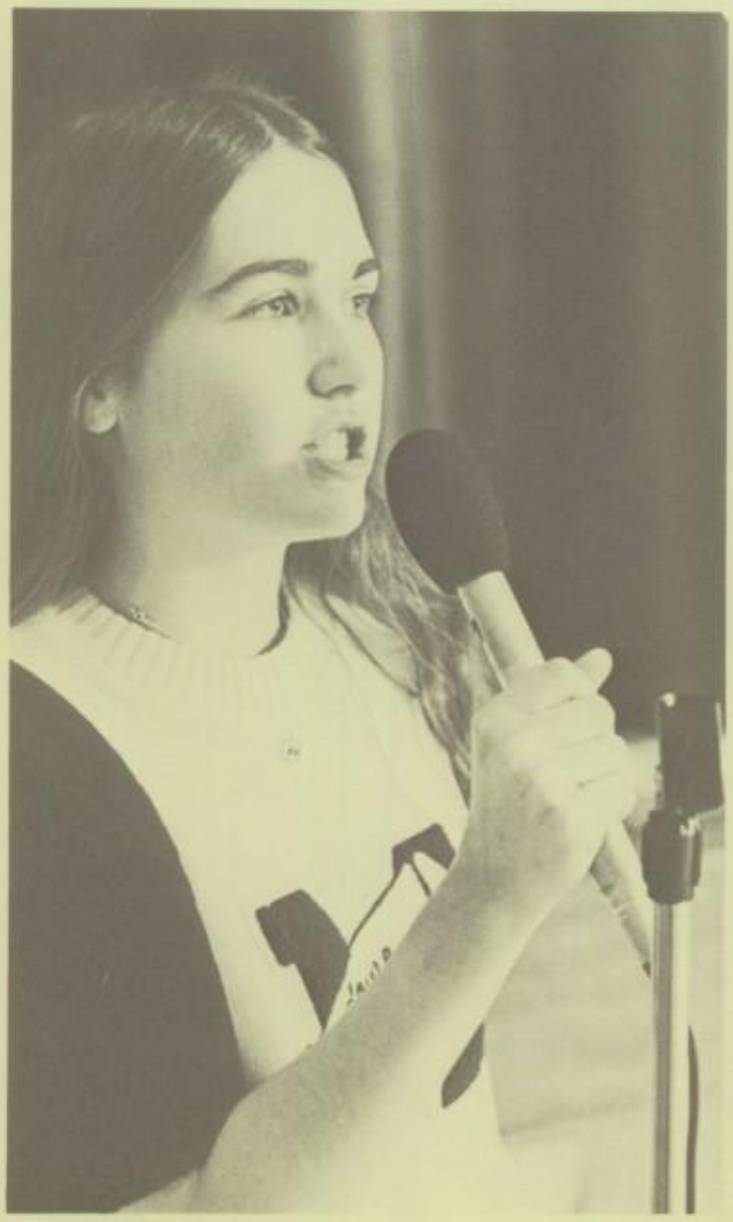
Which one of you two dummies put glue on this pole?

Coach said not to shake hands before a game.

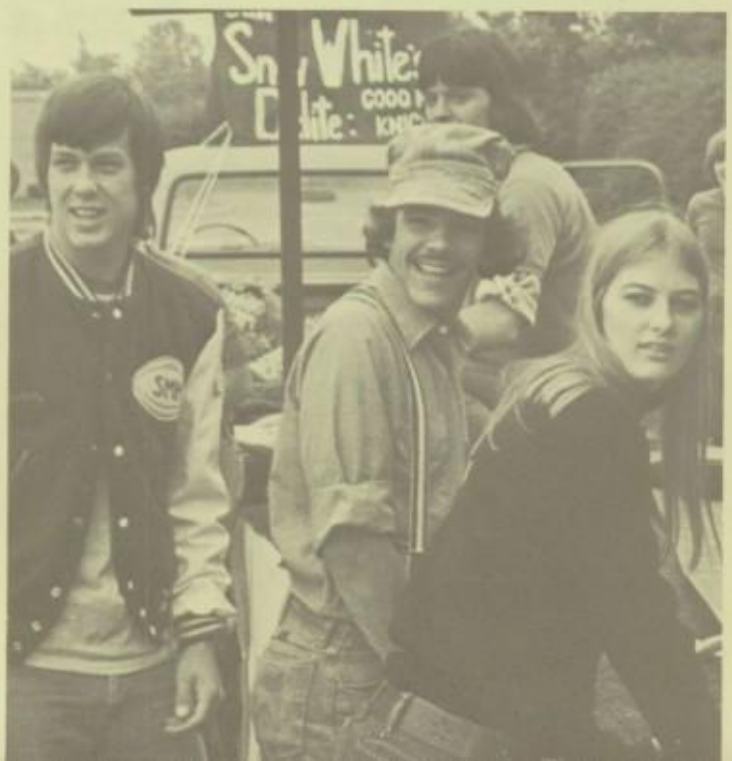
Is this just another petition to abolish free days?

This is going to be my wedding gown, ya know!

If you don't like what you see, don't look!



For my next number . . .



I never had an original "Campanella" before.

You mean the freshmen call that a float?

Class: English IV
Theme: "Community As a Dream -- My personal Experience"
Date due: Mayy 22, 1975

Paul A. Kilmark

--- First Draft ---

The world as we know it, made up of ~~///~~ individuals, families, states and world populace, does not trust anyone anymore. It finds itself floundering, like a landed fish, fat and afraid, flapping wildly on a shore it finds strange. We, the moderns, are victims of Watergates, of ~~///~~ ~~////~~ population fears, of treats of starvation and economic collapse, of future uncertainties. I would like to pursue this "fear" and "lack of trust", and offer the solution of "community" to ~~/////~~ bring back love and understanding and the joy of living.

These are the things that stay with us: death, longing, and loneliness, and the worst of these is loneliness.

Eugene Kennedy

The experience of loneliness tells man of his incompleteness and opens him to a world beyond himself, a world into which he cannot even look unless he is willing to bear the necessary pain of loneliness.

This is one of my observations as a young adult. page two
As soon as I grew big enough to understand myself, to see myself as an individual, I began to fear. I fear that my peers would not accept me as a person, so I went to great lengths to cement my relationship with what I called "friends". I would do things my "inner self" said NO to: I would lie, I might steal, I would compromise myself, just to be called "one of the gang." I would even topple down a whole decade of years of ingrained morality to be called a "buddy".

At first my family life was ~~in danger~~ jeopardized. ~~Those~~ My parents, whom I had always trusted as wise and understanding and loving, were pushed aside as new-found "enemies". I can recall shutting my bedroom door on my folks just to "sulk-think" (as I called it) for hours. I would whisper my problems on the phone to my friends for support and solution. I would tell lies about where I was going or what I was going to do. I would hide my personal letters and written secrets under my underwear in the bottom drawer, just to avoid the snoopiness of my parents and sisters. All this until a gigantic gap was formed.

A lonely person cannot, then, wait for his friends to assemble around him to take care of him. Friendship, for each of us, begins with reaching out toward others; it is a fundamentally active process.

— Eugene Kennedy

Love lays on us responsibilities of the most demanding sort; it requires us to share the thing to which we cling most tightly, our own self.

It was then that I liked to be alone ... just me and my thoughts. On free afternoons, I would spend ~~time~~ hours walking in a wooded area near our house. After Mass on Sundays, I would ride my bike for miles and miles, sometimes talking to myself, and wondering what life was all about ... and, yes, why I was who I was ! I thought myself fortunate to be born in the last half of the twentieth century, yet I could not stop ~~thinking~~ imagining myself in the 18 hundreds, when things seemed less complicated and delightfully simple.

That phase ended when I found her ... a certain special "her", the one with that soft hair and perfumy skin and those dark, sparkling eyes. She offered, in a quiet, different way, a new and interesting slant on life. "Aloneness" did not seem so important anymore. "Twoness" was better, and this new found togetherness brought back (at least so it seemed) the joy of living that I once knew as a child. I felt lost without that "other" who made me feel complete. And yet I had so many other potential ties to other "others".

There is to be a basic equality, a basic reverence for one another as persons and fellow Christians; Christ has come to break down all walls of division among men.

— Bernard J. Cooke

Personal communication is built upon and builds community. Experience also shows that love among men can come into being and develop only if people have the opportunity to deal with one another, share experiences together, develop common concerns — in short, to live together in some form of community.

However, youth is fickle, and I soon learned that "twoness" is almost as bad as "oneness". And both of us (although we didn't say it aloud) looked for the company of others to enjoy our "twoness". We didn't want to separate and "threeness" was super-great! As I ~~look~~ look back, the reason seems clear: we were selfish and afraid we'd be alone and without each other if we didn't stick to each other like ticks on a ~~god~~ dog. But we were wrong. The gradual formation of an ~~baby~~ embryonic community was starting.

Friendship, then, is really the beginning of a community. But friendship has an outgoing quality: one that grows and spreads and breaks down walls, those damnable walls of loneliness! In a sense, true friendship is blind and opens its welcoming arms to all. And best of all, it brings out the "realness" of another. Friendship has a short memory, and can so easily forget a friend's weaknesses and momentary slips. But best of all it loves a crowd. And that crowd keeps growing.

I give you a new commandment: Love one another. Such as my love has been for you, so must your love be for each other. This is how all will know you for my disciples: your love for one another.

— The Gospel of St. John the Beloved

You will live in my love if you keep my commandments, even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and live in his love. All this I tell you that my joy may be yours and your joy may be complete.

And crowds are fun! Because you always have an audience for your ideas, a whole "bushel of ears" to listen to you, many loving hearts to accept you, and always a brave voice to tell you when you're wrong or stupid or pouty. The ~~whole~~ world is easier to face when you're facing it with a crowd. The support you feel is right there to grasp, to use as needed.

But growing up means facing grown-up ideas, accepting mature attitudes, and letting the toys of childhood rest sleepily on the shelf of the past. But here's where new-found fears come in again. Look what the adults do: they get divorced at an astounding rate (and they supposedly started out deeply in love), groups of grown-ups hoard oil and sugar to greedily raise the prices for other grown-ups, they watch others starve because they don't want to get involved, they "strike" when the factory won't give them more wages (I used to hold my breath as a child until I turned blue!). I'm beginning to think we lack leadership in community living ... no matter what size the community is.

I am in the world no more, but these are in the world as I come to you. O Father most holy, protect them with your name which you have given me that they may be one, even as we are one.

— The Gospel of St. John the Beloved

To experience life more fully is to enjoy it in the company of others . . . to enjoy the company of others is to build community.

The answer is community with a new core, a living-together, where one becomes two, and two becomes three or four, and four mushrooms into six or seven, but all motivated by real values, by positive dynamos -- like understanding, forgiveness, the willingness to share, the ability to remain second while someone else shines in first ~~spot~~ place. The time to eradicate those negative destructive agents that have been gnawing away at "people-living" for centuries is with us -- the new generation. Hate must give way to an understanding love, and greed must melt down to make room for honest sharing.

This is the ideal, and ideals are dreams. But dreams come true ... at times, if they're worked at and sweated out. And if proper leadership is the problem, then the remedy is simple: everyone must become a leader in his own right! Then you have only one person to blame for ~~the~~ failure --- yourself. The real difficulty is contamination ... contamination with the past with their "oil-and-water" communities, ~~just~~ mere groups with no "cement" because it's the cement that holds the structure together and the cement that holds is SELFLESSNESS.

To think alike, to enjoy the same things, to breathe the same air in harmony, is not the sign of a conformist, but a selfless lover of community-growth.

— Peter J. Willkomm

The outer man — his eyes, his smile, his coy wink — expresses the deeper and more hidden man. When men can live together and express their feelings lovingly without words, a new level of common living is reached.

If community ////// formation weren't so natural, I would say it would remain a dream. But it's "nature with guts" -- where oneness is destroyed in twoness, and two rolls into four like a snowball rushing down a hill, gathering not only more snow but more ////// speed. But the core has to be right ... and that core is us, the ones who haven't grown too old and crusty in our ways so that we can change, if needed, and create something new ... and hopefully something better.

Class Of '76

"I am a child in the hills" . . . searching, experiencing . . . Junior year is a time of reaching out to find your own identity . . . a difficult, trying time when you are still a child, yet nearing adulthood . . . a time when the law says you're not mature enough to vote, yet mature enough to see an "R" rated movie. It's a time when your parents say you're responsible enough to have a job, yet your "Friday-night-11:00-curfew" still holds.

Junior year is really a mixed-up, confusing year. You become so involved in wanting to grow up, that you forget you are still a child . . . a child in the hills; searching, experiencing.

I hate to tell you guys, but something tells me we're sittin' on an ant hill.

I AM A CHILD IN THE HILLS

I am a child in the hills
I am away, I am alone
I am a child in these hills
And looking for water
And looking for water.

Who will show me the river
And ask me my name
There's nobody near me to do that
I have come to these hills
I will come to the river
As I choose to be gone
From the house of my father
I am a child in these hills
I am a child in these hills.

Chased from the gates of the city
By no one who touched me
I am away, I am alone
I am a child in these hills
And looking for water
And looking for life.

Sometimes, serious things are forgotten and "nonsense" lives on. Humor plays a major part in everyone's lives, especially the lives of sophomores. For sophomore year is a time of discovering, a time of romances, a time of joy, a time of finding out who you really are. But there are times in a sophomore's life when times aren't so happy — broken hearts, when you are searching for an identity that you can't seem to find, when no one seems to understand you.

It is then that a bit of humor is needed to "lift your spirits" and brighten your day. So delight yourself with the sophomores and the "limerick" verses (a comical, Irish poetry) as you read on.

A BAKER in quaint Marblehead
Raised his children on yeast, so he said.
They were all so polite
That people guessed right,
They must have been very well bread!

Hey fatty, save some for me!

If she ain't home, there's a million more here!

Lock pickin' is better than nose pickin'

Now that's the guy I want!

Don't try to tell us you did that!

Did you ever hear it said that "Big fish need little fish to show them the way." Well, it's true. Just think of what it would be like without the freshmen in our school? Why, they're the class that's full of pep and spunk, that set such an example for the upper classmen. Their "innocent" (and sometimes not so innocent) attitudes and "youthful" smiles bring us to remember the joy of our own freshmen days. Try and see if you can remember your own as you read through the little "frosh" sayings throughout this section.

Hey, is that a streaker?

Some freshmen boys are good with pin-ups.

Say that again, buster, and I'll send my big brother after you!

Three drops of this and you'll put Cybil Sheperd to shame!

Faculty

Yes, teachers too make SMH the place that it is! For our faculty is unique! There's Mr. Rimlinger, a 6'4" "Hawk," Mr. Even with his "Biggie" tests and corny jokes, Mrs. Danitz and her "California Jumping Jacks," and Fr. Lloyd, the only priest you may know of with a red beard!

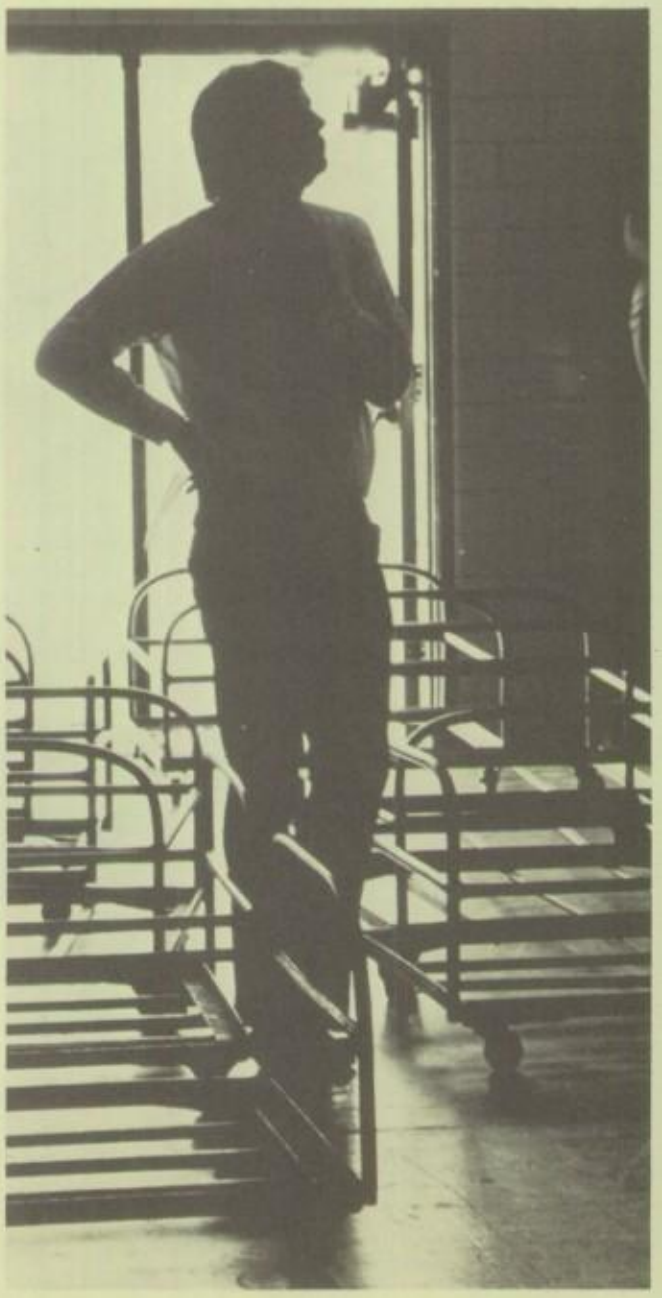
For these and all the rest of our faculty, we say "thanks," for they are the most spirited, helpful and understanding faculty a school could ever be blessed with!

Father Lloyd finds delight in mailing out interim reports for French.

The Happy Cooker

Mrs. Hughes anticipates dinner.

Cynthia Hickey — And to think we could have had her on our staff!



Hawk in the dark again!

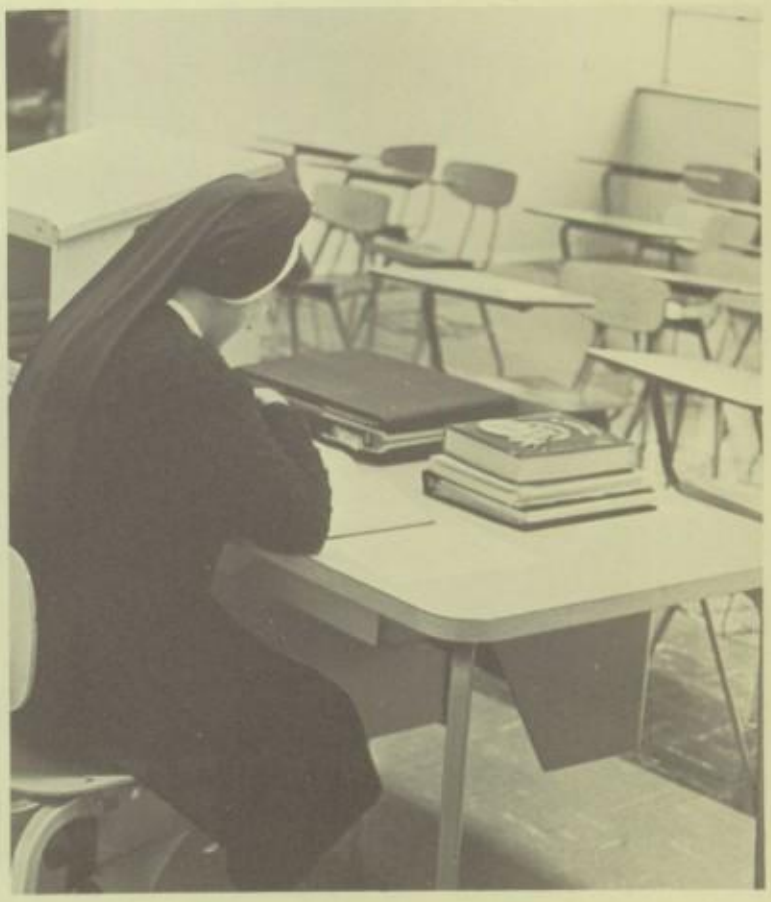
"And I'd like to make that perfectly clear . . ."

You, back in the corner! Pay attention!

What did you put in my pop?

It's only 3 o'clock; I've got "time to kiln!"

Mr. Smith — looking concerned.



My class couldn't be 2 mods late!

Administration

To become a Christian Community is a most difficult task because it implies that people are striving to love in a Christian way and this is never finished. If it were, there would be no need for eternal life. So — we need more patience, we need more understanding, we need a deeper respect for the failures that are part of our humanity. My joy is not that we are a Christian Community, but rather that we share the goal of striving to become a Community in Christ.

— Mr. Patrick S. Hughes, Principal

ADMINISTRATIVE BOARD: Fr. Lloyd Kramlich, S.D.S. —Coordinator of Student Activities. Mrs. Dorothy Blake — Assistant Principal. Fr. Robert Beiter — Faculty Senate President. Sr. Ruth Imhof — Chairman of the Curriculum Committee. Rhodie Ruminski — Student Senate President.

Dear Greg,
Best wishes
next year —
Dorothy Blake

No man is alone in the world. By his very nature, he is destined to seek human relationship. He searches for someone with whom he can share fulfillment — this someone is a friend. A friend willingly gives all he knows and possesses, expecting little in return. Thus, there developes a respect for individual personalities. These persons form a sincere partnership and grow in knowledge and in trust and in unity. This search fills a life time; man is constantly discovering these qualities in the people he encounters. It is here at SMH that for many of us a part of this quest is satisfied daily in the development of and the continual reassessment of "Our S.M.H. Community". — I believe that's what it's all about!

Just like a sunny day, the color "yellow" describes Sister Virginia's warm and glowing personality.

Being the moderator of FUTURE keeps Sister Virginia busy and involved. In her spare time, she enjoys (you guessed it!) baking, and (would you believe!) crocheting and knitting!

Sister Virginia is secretly an outdoors woman. That's one of the reasons why she teaches biology: to instill that same love of nature and life to her students.

Miss Balling is a lover: a lover of people of all ages, of drawing, of dogs, of her horse, of playing tennis, and of walking in the woods.

Her pet peeves are of a different breed: she dislikes "yellow", Mondays, liars, and the phrase: "Who cares?".

After taking one year off from teaching last year, Miss Balling says she is glad to be back at SMH. She feels St. Marys is a great place — not from the physical buildings but for the special people here.

Father Beiter is a man "behind the scenes" and has done marvels with the liturgical celebrations here at St. Marys. Though quiet in an outward manner, he enjoys getting involved in activities both with the faculty and the students.

Raising flowers and reading are Father Beiter's favorite hobbies, outside of growing an occasional beard or moustache. When vacationing he enjoys spending his time in isolated areas near lakes. Could it be that he has hermit inclinations?

Girls' Athletic Director

Mrs. Danitz has always been an athlete. Besides being the Girls' Physical Education Teacher at SMH, she ice skates, swims, goes boating, and skiing, but because we lack these facilities here, she has to find them in the Buffalo environs. And if you ever want to hear an exciting story, ask Mrs. Danitz about the time her boat almost went over the Falls!

Mrs. Danitz enjoys teaching at SMH and one of her dearest dreams for the school is a swimming pool, so students could engage in another sport's activity, especially one that everyone would love!

Mr. Even is the type of guy that everyone likes — he's concerned, out-going, and he loves to joke around!

As almost everyone knows, Mr. Even loves to ski — both on water and on "powder". Besides this, he enjoys collecting antiques, especially old presidential campaign buttons. He spends countless hours refinishing old furniture, too, much of which he finds discarded in front of homes.

Mr. Even claims his favorite movies are those shown in Consumer Education, but believe that one and he'll tell you another.

Sister Mary Louise has made teaching her career and has been in the business for twenty-five years. This year she celebrated her Silver Jubilee as a Sister of the Order of St. Francis of Williamsville. It was an unforgetable event.

Would you believe Sister Mary Louise's favorite book is the Bible . . . especially the Good News of St. Luke? Her favorite pastimes (that is, when she gets time!) are reading and attending live performances, both musical and dramatic.

Sister Mary Louise finds SMH a "friendly, homey" community and she is glad to be a genuine part of its faculty.

Mr. Hefner, father of three adorable little girls, has been one of St. Mary's math teachers for several years. At first, Mr. Hefner may appear to be a bashful person, but you soon discover that he has a delightful sense of humor.

He does, however, have a quiet yet penetrating way of teaching, and corridor "B" has not tired of seeing him day after day . . . along with his students.

In his spare hours, Mr. Hefner enjoys all kinds of carpentry work and furniture building.

Moderator of the Student Senate, Member of the Dance Committee, Faculty Senator

Miss Hollstein is a person who likes to get involved, not only with things educational, but especially, and fortunately for St. Marys, with the students' extracurriculars. She feels that being Moderator of the Student Senate is being where it is, and she's right. She doesn't hesitate, either, to commend the Senators for all their enthusiasm and professional attitudes.

Miss Hollstein enjoys serious classic books and movies. Her favorites are the classic flicks like "Caine Mutiny" "Gone With the Wind" and "Doctor Zhivago".

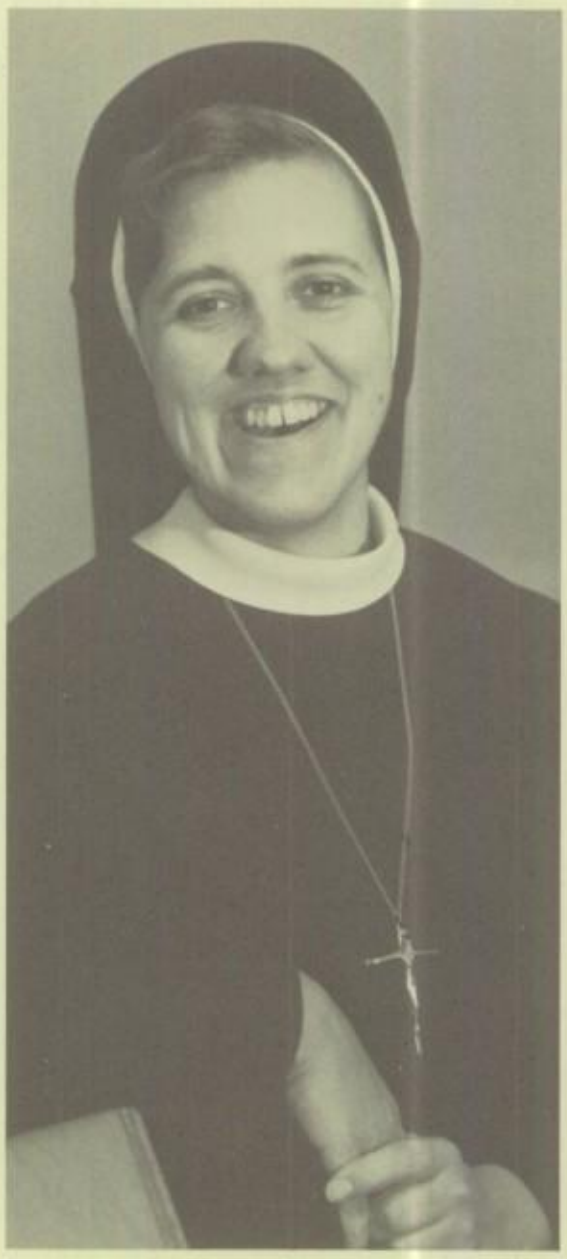
Miss Honer likes San Francisco, and autumn colors; she enjoys attending plays and evening reading. She is a serious-minded person with a friendly, warm personality.

This year Miss Honer has enjoyed her new 1974-1975 task: co-moderatorship of the Marian Gazette, our school newspaper. This enables her to make her English teaching more applicable.

This is Miss Honer's twelfth year of teaching in the Buffalo area.



As a new faculty member on our staff, Sister Joan describes SMH as a "real community with real people".

Sister Joan enjoys listening to music and talking (why not, she's a girl!). When she has the opportunity to "vacation", Sister Joan enjoys going to the beach, especially the ones in Florida (why not, she's only human!).

As if teaching weren't demanding enough, Sister Ruth is a hobbyist: making craft projects, such as drying flowers and decoupaging. This Christmas, she even made all her presents!

Sister Ruth also enjoys reading and going to movies, ner favorite being "The Sting". When vacationing, Sister Ruth likes being near the water.

It you're ever in need of a kind word, Mrs. Irwin is the person to see. She's a regular dispenser of pleasant words and welcome commendations. She is one of the warmest, most considerate people you could ever meet!

Mrs. Irwin's favorite hobbies are swimming and reading, and her favorite vacation spot is at home!

Mrs. Irwin has been teaching business courses for five years, and really enjoys SMH because everyone is so congenial.

Mr. Jakubowski's favorite book is One Million Basketball Statistics, and you'd be surprised how valuable these facts are in scintillating Trivia Games! And besides being a basketball fan, Mr. Jak (as he is affectionately called) also enjoys yoga.

"Teaching chemistry is very interesting," says Mr. Jak, "however, at times, many non-chemical explosions occur during class." Mr. Jak enjoys taking his classes on field trips, and this year as Co-Moderator of the Student Senate, he put in just zillions of hours on the annual fund drive, which was the most successful ever (I wonder if the proffered free day had anything to do with that?).

Mrs. Koch is a bubbly person filled with generosity and enthusiasm, not only in the "cooking class" but with all kinds of extracurriculars, like making costumes for the school plays, for instance.

Being the Home Ec Teacher, Mrs. Koch enjoys trying all sorts of new recipes. Surprisingly enough, almost everyone of them turns out delicious . . . and why not, she's an expert!

When not at school, Mrs. Koch's home life keeps her busy. She is the mother of two children, and an amateur Indian-Lore expert.

Since "dark rooms" are made for bad and gloomy days, Father Lloyd would rather spend his time in the woods, hiking or hunting, or at the beach, preferably the ocean.

"Collecting" is a human disease, somewhat contagious, and Father Lloyd has, for the past several years, collected "Fairy Tales and Legends" and Indian jewelry.

Mr. Minard is one of our many graduates who has returned to his Alma Mater to teach. This year there are six members of the faculty who are alumni.

Mr. Minard is a welcome addition to the Religion Department, teaches part time, and holds classes in an intimate, informal way.

In his spare time, and especially on Sundays, Dave plays guitar (he's an excellent musician and writes much of his own music) and conducts a "guitar Mass" at St. Marys on the Hill.

Mrs. Monin has been teaching at SMH for eight years now. She enjoys supporting extra-curricular sports activities, especially basketball, since her sons are and were on the teams here.

In her free time, Mrs. Monin enjoys reading . . . in several languages. Her favorites are cookbooks, biographies, and mystery stories.

Mme Monin would like to start a mini-course in French Conversation, since she had a French oriented upbringing and speaks French fluently.

Mr. Morgante's favorite color is "red" — a color that describes his dynamic, out-going personality. And in his case it doesn't mean "stop."

As an alumni of SMH, Mr. Morgante enjoys being here again, now reincarnated as a teacher. He describes SMH as "interesting."

Mr. Morgante has no special hobbies, as he is usually so involved in the things he undertakes. When he does have the time to sit back and relax, he enjoys vacationing in the Adirondacks.

Sunny days will find Father Loren parked near the airport, his ear "focused" on his short wave radio catching calls from the airport tower, while he skillfully scans the skies watching planes. He finds this relaxing and interesting. Cheap, too!

This year Fr. Loren undertook one of the momentous tasks of the school: Public Relations. He occupies himself by getting articles into the local and city papers.

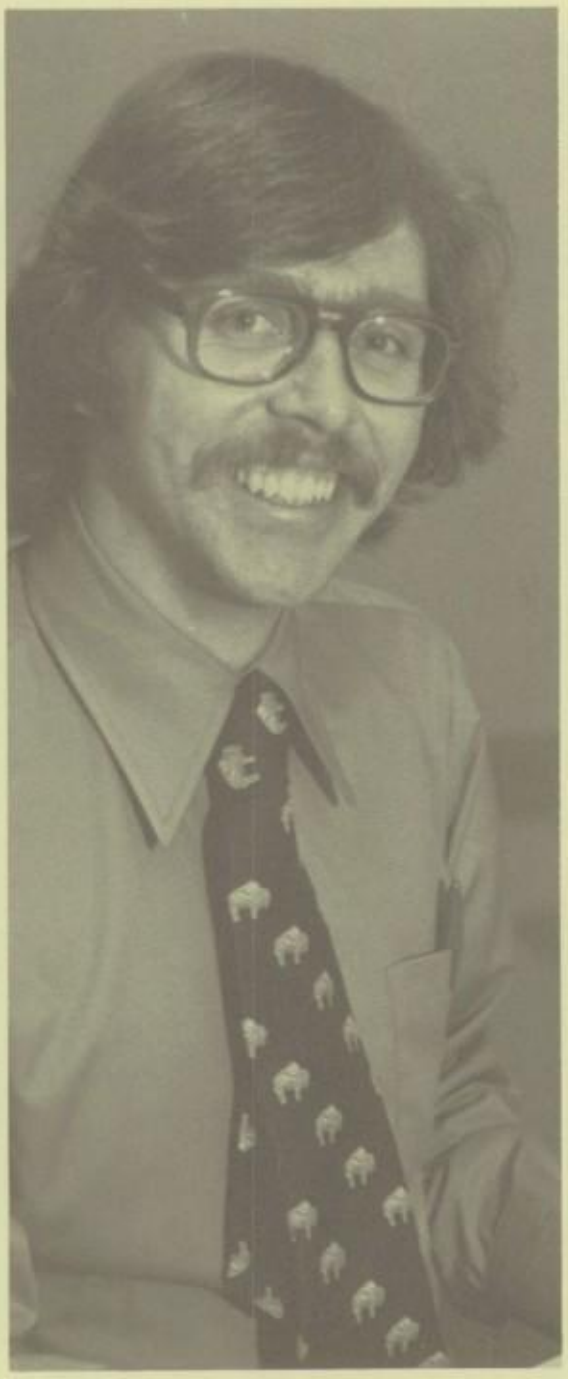
Mr. Pierino is a "sporty" person, who enjoys basketball, running (for health, safety, and the winning ribbon), baseball, and football, both professionally and as a participant himself.

As a new teacher, Mr. Pierino describes SMH as having a "free and relaxed" atmosphere. He likes to get himself involved in extra-curricular activities, and enjoys getting to know his students on an "outside-of-school" basis. They're different that way, you know!

In essence, Mr. Pierino is a perfect gentleman and exudes a genuinely warm and attractive friendliness. We need more like him.



Mr. Pikus really enjoys the Humanities Program, which was initiated this year, and has gobbled up the spacious 115-117B. This attractive program (sometimes 5 mods long!) not only gives the students more freedom and more exciting things to explore, but it also gives Mr. Pikus more time to get involved in that and other activities.

Traveling is one of Mr. Pikus' favorite holiday activities. Maine and Nova Scotia are his favorite vacation spots.

Mrs. Ponvert's out-going, cheerful personality is described by her favorite color: "orange". Her friendly smile can brighten your day and she is always willing to lend you a helping hand if in need.

Cooking and baking all kinds of delicious foods are Mrs. Ponvert's favorite hobbies.

In the summer time, Father Ray loves to play golf and he takes the game seriously. But another love, unfectuously caused by his "green thumb" has taken up a good deal of the sunny growing days of summer: his gardens — both flower and vegetable. There is scarcely a plant that will not grow at his command.

The Physics Department is almost like an old soft shoe to Father Raymond who has held sway there for innumerable years.

The sports arena constantly sees Father, either taking movies of football games or gently "persuading" the basketball referees that their eye examinations for myoptic vision are long overdue.

Mr. Rigby feels what he needs most is a 28 hour day or an 8 day week! Besides the positions he holds at SMH, Mr. Rigby is the owner of a sporting goods store.

Mr. Rigby's favorite past-times are playing with his little son, golf, officiating hockey, and carpentry.

This man who towers over just about everyone at SMH may appear very strict and set in his ways (if he'd only smile a little more!), but actually, when you get to know Mr. Rimlinger, or "Hawk" as he is sweetly called by some, you'll see he is a very warm, understanding person.

Mr. Rimlinger describes SMH as "unique", and he continues to be impressed by the friendly relationships between students and faculty.

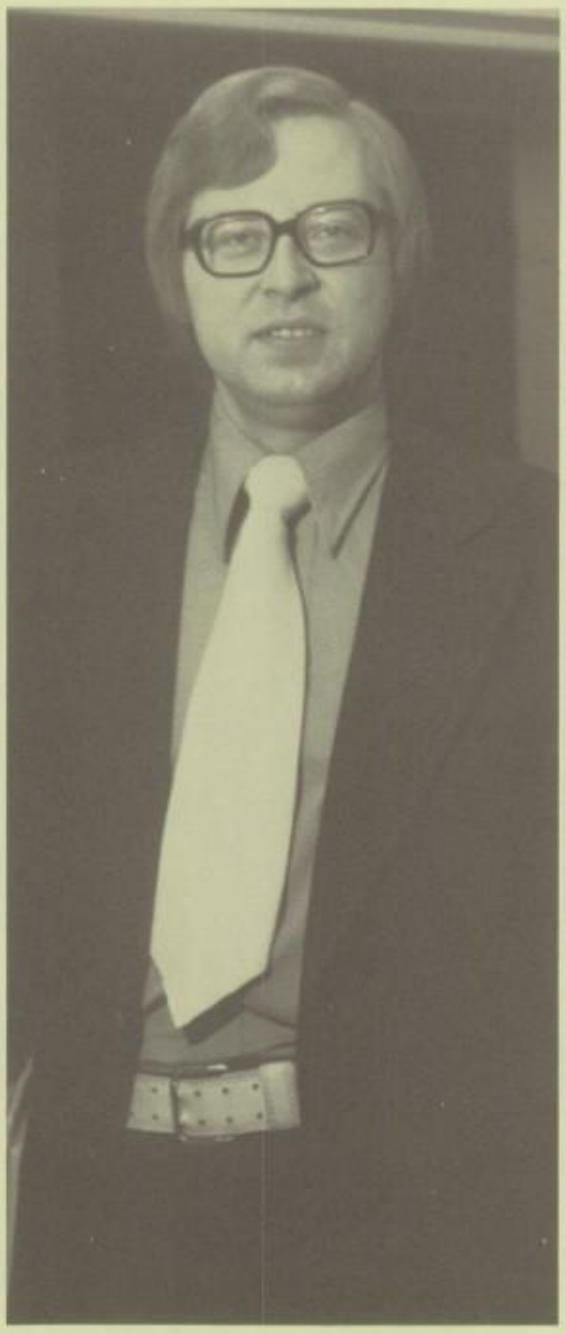
Here's a man who spends his free evenings (imagine that!), whole strings of them, at school directing students in the production of our school plays: the fall presentation and the spring musical. Mr. Smith finds it sometimes frustrating, sometimes tiring, and he often threatens himself with: "This is the absolute last time, I mean it!" But he's always back directing another, and filling both his life and the lives of budding actors and production people with a new and important experience.

Besides drama, Mr. Smith also enjoys traveling to far away places, and, in "week" moments he loves to play cards.



Mr. Stachowiak feels the opportunity of being involved in the educational process at SMH has been an extremely rewarding and challenging experience. This is Mr. Stachowiak's first year of teaching.

Fishing and hunting take up Mr. Stachowiak's spare time when he's not busy at home or school. Besides this, he enjoys reading and traveling.

Mr. Woj (as he is usually called) has been teaching now for twenty years at St. Marys . . . the last of the original faculty. He makes teaching his profession simply because he loves kids and has a lot to offer them.

Mr. Woj wanted to get back to classroom teaching so as not to get "rusty", and besides, he delights in business law and had oodles of "pertinent stories" that are only good in a classroom situation. So he retired from teaching "gym" and settled back into the comfortable field of academics.

In his spare time, Mr. Woj likes to spend most of his time with his family, his dog, and his memories.

Organizations

Clubs play a vital role in the lives of SMH students, whether it be in the form of leadership (The Student Senate, the NHS), the form of journalism and Media (the Gazette, the Lance, WSMH), the form of helping (Health Careers, FUTURE), the form of fun (Skiing), or the form of fantasy (Drama).

Though there are only eight clubs in all, the students who make these clubs exist are dedicated and hard-working. They make all those "taken-for-granted" things possible — dances, Jean Day, Spirit Week, the Yearbook. And sometimes the only reward they get for doing these things is the smile they see on students' faces when the event takes place, or the paper or the yearbook come out, and the feeling that they were a part in creating it.

Student Senate

Linda Pawelczyk (Secretary), Terri Ann Bosse (Vice-President), Rhodie Ruminski (President); Standing: Mary Jo Zyga (Treasurer), Miss Margaret Hollstein and Mr. Kenneth Jakubowski (Co-Moderators).

Students check out available resources.

Michelle and David assist Linda with secretarial chores.

Senate members work hard on a current project.

A senate meeting in progress.

Mary Jo Walter and Terri Bosse check patron returns with Mr. Jak.

Student senators discuss plans for future events.

Collecting food for the area's poor is just one of the senate's many tasks.

Maybe I should've voted "yes."

To be in the Student Senate you have to have lots of guts, you have to be dedicated and hard-working, and you have to be responsible. Because that's what the Student Senators are: leaders of our school. Without the Senate, many activities and events would not exist — Jean Day, Spirit Week, Christmas decorating, the Patron Drive, the Arts Festival. And when another club in the school needs help, the Student Senate is always willing to lend a helping hand.

Yes, the Student Senate plays a major role in the events and happenings in the SMH community!

Health Careers

But I think you need Latin for nursing, doncha?

If the scale never lies, why is she smiling?

Are these the measurements of all the senior girls!

Remember, this ain' made of candy!
Actually I keep my "Scope" in this.

If you like to make people happy and help those who are less fortunate than you, chances are you're a member of the Health Careers Club. The kids who make up this club are the ones who are willing to sacrifice their Saturday nights to put a smile on the face of someone living at West Seneca State School. They're the ones who sold all that candy, not to benefit their club, but to distribute it to local charities.

Yes, the Health Careers Club is a club that "cares" and that makes the world a happier place for some.

Radio Club

And if I push this button, the school will disintergrate in 5 seconds.

Somebody requested a song from Beethoven. Is that a new group?

How come they always "bleep out" my radio commentaries . . . that's the way I usually speak.

"Now all you aries people remember to look out for falling cats and scrawny rats."

"This is "Joe Pro" on the Radio . . ."

This is the third year that the Radio Club has existed at SMH. It's the club members that keep WSMH alive! And this year, a big step was taken for the Radio Club — WSMH was bought from its former owner, Joe Momot, and now officially belongs to SMH.

Belonging to the Radio Club is not only fun, but also an educational experience. You are given the chance to learn what goes on "behind the scenes" in a radio station, a chance to become a real disc jockey on the waves of WSMH.

National Honor Society

The most exciting part of being in the NHS is getting inducted. Hearing someone calling your name from the mike on the stage, seeing the smile on your parents' faces as you receive your NHS Certificate. But it doesn't end there, because from then on you take part in all kinds of different activities: planning the next inductions, taking part in tutoring programs, being available to help teachers. Belonging to the NHS makes you a leader of the school.

A proposal brings varied expressions from NHS members.

Ski Club

For several years now, it's been a real risk with a capital 'R' to join the Ski Club. The danger was not in visions of broken arms and legs and damaged expensive equipment, but the real lack of that white stuff to ski on — snow! So after a good deal of persuasive pleading and the gentle collecting of funds by Messieurs Even and Morgante (the Moderators), a goodly, eager crowd of forty patiently waited for the slopes at Kissing Bridge to turn white. And they eventually did, and the yellow school bus, undergirded with skis and poles and bloated boots, ground out from St. Marys at 4 p.m. on several Thursdays to give the winter-sporters a chance to let the mountain winds slap their faces as they down-hill skied ... this winter 1975.

Future

FUTURE is more than a "scientific" organization. They're the ones who helped the Health Careers Club sponsor the Carnival to aid the needy, they're the ones who brighten the lives of the old people at St. Elizabeth's Home with their smiles and little homemade favors. FUTURE is also behind the planning of the annual Science Fair at our school, and learn about various careers through their many field trips, especially to Meyer Memorial Hospital.

If you are a member of FUTURE, you are a student who is involved in all sorts of activities.

Once again, the Lance staff set out to produce another yearbook — one even better than the year before. As always problems arose; some with finances, some in meeting deadlines, others in just making decisions. But the good comes along with the bad, so there are the "pizza parties" and the "gab sessions" to look back upon, and just knowing that you helped make the Lance the yearbook that it is.

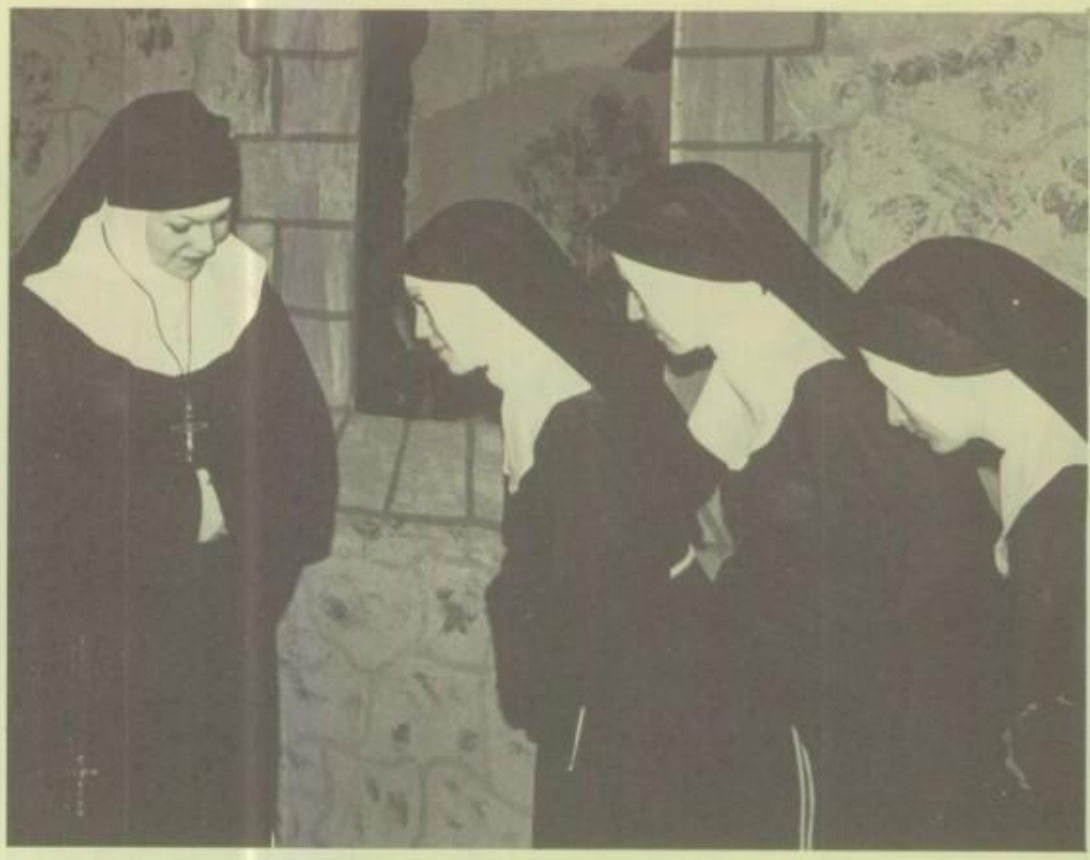
This year, the members of the Gazette staff had to change the format of the Gazette considerably, due to the purchase of our own offset printing machine. The "new" paper received both commendation, along with criticism.

Working on the Gazette may be a lot of work — laying out the pages, writing headlines that fit, trying to gather up last minute articles. But it's also a lot of fun too, working together to put out our own school newspaper, and watching everyone in homeroom flip through the pages of a paper you helped create.



Drama

Actually, the Drama Club doesn't exist by name in our school. There are no meetings or dues or fund-raising activities. But some recognition must be given to those students who do participate in creating our school plays. The students who sacrifice long hours of rehearsing their lines over and over until they are perfect, the students who hammer away and become "professional artists" as they set up the stage, the students who spend hours at the sewing machine creating clothes of a different era, the students who sit behind the stage watching every movement of the "actors" and "actresses" to make sure the lighting is right. It is because of the efforts of these students and the dedication of the faculty members, namely Mr. Bill Smith and Sr. Mary Louise, that SMH is able to present such plays as "The Sound of Music," "Harvey" and "Oklahoma" for the delight and enjoyment of others.

"The Sound Of Music"

Action

The 12th century French philosopher, Mr. Legris Mercier, thoughtfully scribbled in one of his university notebooks that "action, is, in truth, the determiner of LIFE, and "thinking" action isolates that which is called HUMAN LIFE, and when this later action is fortified with love, then CHRISTIAN ACTION-LIFE is discovered!" It is this goal that directs the action of the Christian schools in all the aspects of school life: academic, dramatic, athletic, communicative. The trouble is that sometimes it's like a diamond in the rough: sometimes the beauty is hidden behind the dull camouflage of childish fear or false religiosity of "what-happens-if-I-get-involved" attitude. When these are scraped off it becomes a splendid and attractive gem!

Ring Dance
April 26, 1974

Rings have adorned the fingers of kings and paupers for thousands and thousands of years. That single band of gold or silver or precious metal has symbolized power or love or friendship, or in the case of a class ring the spirit of belonging to a special group. The Juniors of 1974 celebrated that "special spirit of belonging" by a formal dance at the Depew Grove. Spotless in formal attire of tux and gown, the "ring bearers" passed through a reception line, perhaps the first in their lives, to be welcomed to dine and dance like grown-ups . . . but all with that special feeling of "we're a group"! A King and Queen were crowned, empty plates were shoved aside, burned out flash bulbs filled table ash trays, and the night drifted into the memories of high school and togetherness.

Joy Smith and Brian Klaja quizzically enter the Meadows, site of the Junior Class Ring Dance.

It was a pleasant, star-filled evening, with warm, spring-scented air that seemed to invite you to enjoy the night, that one special night that the seniors waited four years to be a part of. Cars — washed and cleaned for the occasion — purred slowly into the parking lot of the Buffalo Trap and Field Club. Boys sitting uncomfortably in sharp-looking, loaned tuxedos, waited for their dates at candlelit tables. Girls vied with each other in long, silky formals, as their escorts snapped their pictures. The evening climaxed with the crowning of the King and Queen and the royal promenade. But that did not halt the activities: the next day the seniors picnicked at Akron Park.

Arts Festival — 1974

Congratulations! It's three years old now, this mixture of art and skill and beauty which is summed up in the "Arts Festival". 1974 saw ballet artists dazzle a "rock-fed" audience and they cheered . . . a Christ-Magician baffled the sceptics while Polish dancers and singers strengthened their deep-set traditions in our gym . . . karate and kung fu inspired the interested . . . and gourmet food and artistic flower arrangements fed the aesthetics. Homecoming 1974
September 25-28

Disneylance 1974 . . . Homecoming Week began with the traditional decorating of the gym walls. Once again, a funtime roller skating party replaced the bonfire. Next came the Pep Rally, Class Colors Day, and a Homecoming Liturgy. At the pep rally, Mary Jo Flowers and Dan Oles were crowned Homecoming King and Queen.

Friday night, there was dancing in the gym to the music of the "Warlocks". This was a time where alumni and students were together again to reminisce days at SMH.

Then came the highlight of Homecoming — the Saturday afternoon football game. This year, the game had a special meaning for at that time, the SMH football field was dedicated to the late Father Columban Brady, a good friend of all. The Lancers played a challenging game but were defeated by their rivals, the DeSales Knights .

Disneylance 1974 ended but happy memories remain for everyone.

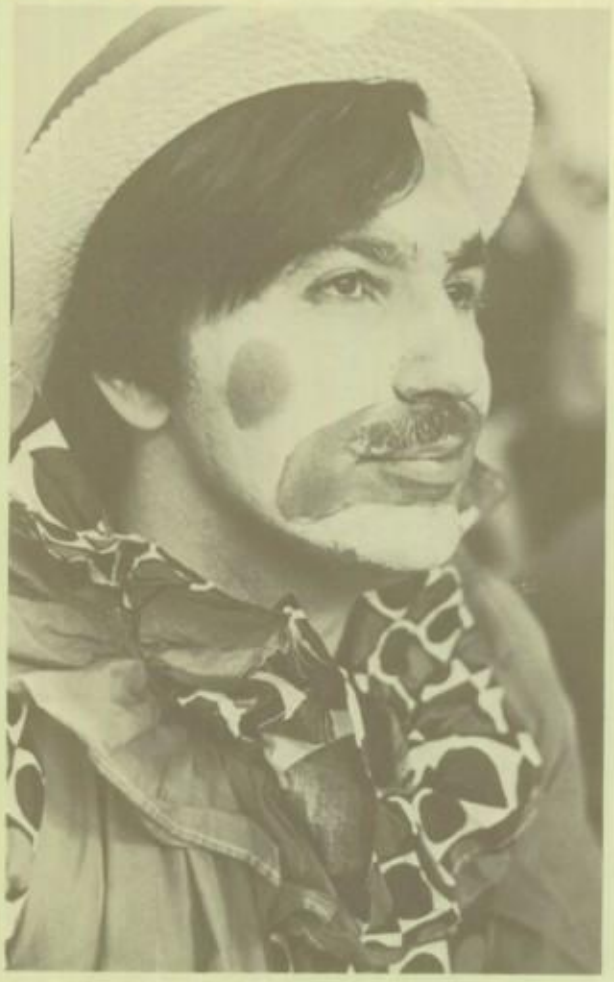
Powder Puff Football
Oct. 11, 1974

The second Powder Puff Football game in St. Marys history was played between the Junior and Senior girls to help support the annual Patron Drive.

Though there may have been a bit of rivalry between the two classes, the game was played in a good-natured atmosphere (no scratching, biting or kicking allowed!). Even the guys really enjoyed themselves, slightly hamming up their roles as cheerleaders.

The amateur football players played an exciting game, with the senior girls winning by only one "longest-yard" touchdown in the final few seconds of the game (not to mention that there was only one touchdown scored in the game!).



Any change would be an improvement; right, Mr. Even?

Just as lovely as the real ones!

Another roller skating party! These "around-the-circle-on-wily-wheels" are becoming quite fashionable at SMH, and they're loads of good fun, too. This particular skating party was the first event of Homecoming, 1974. Students and faculty gathered together to skate noisily around the gym. Some skaters were a bit "rusty", others were just scared beginners, while others mastered the skill in minutes . . . not counting "floor time". No matter what kind of skater you were though, surely you have many happy memories to recall from this night.

Liturgies

Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck and balloons at a liturgy? And why not? — Especially if the liturgical celebration is at St. Marys! Yes, our Masses are unique. Through a well-organized liturgical committee, hours and hours of planning and delegating and research go into them. And best of all, students like these gatherings and have described the Masses as "moving" and "inspiring" and "interesting". Slide presentations, movies, filmstrips and group singing all contributed to the success of the celebrations.

The Choral group embellishes the celebration.

Science Fair
March 5 & 6

St. Mary's Science Department was one of the early originators of THE SCIENCE FAIR in Western New York. There was a slump for some years now, but this year's FAIR saw a new impetus . . . over 90 students participated and the viewers seemed genuinely interested. A hand-made telescope with homemade ground lenses, live cackling chickens and squiggling mice, desert and aquatic plants, and experiments of all types were exhibited. The actual displaying and the viewing by fellow students and teachers made all the hours of preparation worthwhile. Applause is not always hand-clapping.

Funny, these look just like the "wildwood weed'."

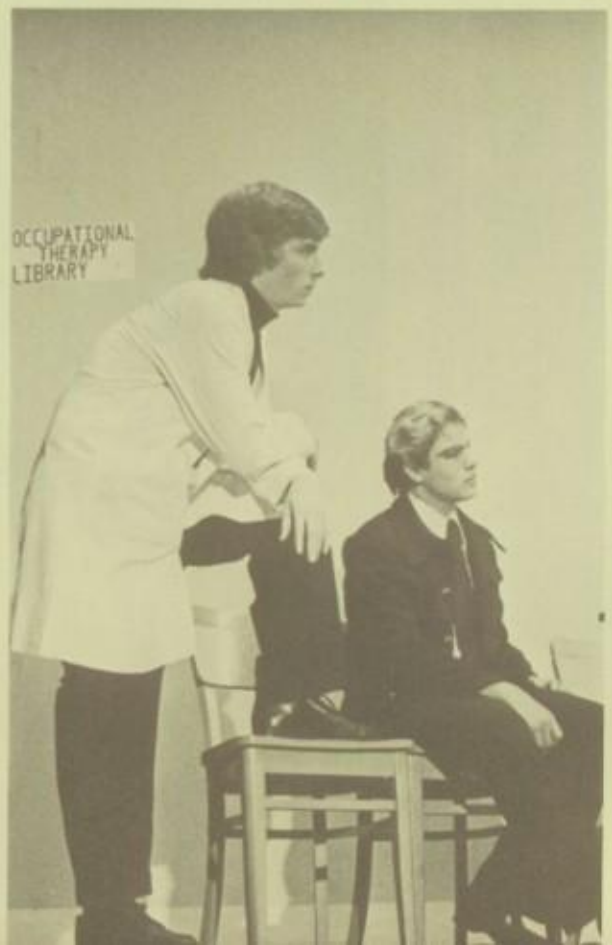
"Harvey"
Nov. 1 & 3, 1974

This year the "dramateers" produced a Fall Play: "Harvey", which has always been a perennial favorite in small high schools. The zany antics of an halucinating (or was it for real?), yet endearing, middle-aged bachelor, played by Mark Meyers, were well matched by superb performances by his social-climbing sister (Peggy Majka) and a busybody, uppidy socialite (Mary Jo Flowers). The curtain call brought the six-foot rabbit, Harvey, to the stage to cure the doubts of all audience disbelievers. Congratulations to cast, crew and producer!



Christmas
And Its Celebration

Christmas is that time of year when SMH students bustle around the school like little elves decorating everything in sight: trees are set up in bauble-glory, doors become unrecognizable as classroom portals. Why? It's Christmas time! It's the season when the whole school community gathers together in the gym to celebrate Christ's birth at the Christmas liturgy. It's a time of happiness, of giving presents and cards and cheery greetings, and of having classroom Christmas parties with all sorts of homemade goodies. It's a time that everyone looks forward to because of a long two-week vacation from school and teachers and books!

Recognition & Reflection Feb. 5 & 7

The old Spirit Week of bygone years left its wiggly cocoon and appeared this year as "Recognition and Reflection" days . . . a time to pull out students and teachers and display them for their loving traits of "class clown," "Mathematical genius," "best dressed," "biggest flirt," "most physically fit," "most interesting" and the whole gamut of personal qualities.

On Wednesday, February 5, the school community gathered for a rousing "pep rally" to cheer on this years outstanding basketball team. On Thursday, reams of cherished certificates were issued to the worthy recipients, followed by the long-awaited Banana Eating Contest. Fifteen delicious and heavy bananas had to be devoured hurriedly by each contestant while individual classes urged on their representatives . . . some had noses bigger than their stomachs. Friday ended the celebration with a thoughtful prayer service.

Teachers Strike Draws Fire From Parents

TO STRIKE OR NOT TO STRIKE . . . (A personal appraisal)

It happened this year . . . in the diocese of Buffalo . . . in its secondary school system . . . and it involved a lot of people: administrators, teachers, parents, students and countless others: — a teachers' strike! With rising costs and frightening economic slumps, the teachers saw the need for higher wages to meet these "dragons", and some left their classrooms to join picket lines for their demands. I think no one ever questioned the need . . . it was the procedure that wrankled me. I had never been involved in a strike and I never want to be involved again. To me, strikes are alternate forms of violence — a very real threatening violence, with tentacles that reach far beyond the issues. "Monsters" can be falsely created on either side and name-calling and telephone "threats" are part of the game. Lines of division between one-time friends can be drawn up, misinterpretations run rampant, and deep-seated woulds are cut! No, I don't like it. Legal entanglements are so enmeshed that the unknowledgable tiro becomes confused with the very issues. I had trouble entering my own home after daily Mass! One outsider brashly told me that if a school system — Catholic or otherwise —cannot pay its personnel a "living" wage (I still have trouble defining that!), it should close it doors . . . promptly! Is that what Catholic education is all about? Is that the system I sacrificed a good deal of my life for? I was proud of the way St. Marys of Lancaster reacted. But overall there has got to be a better way . . . more just . . . less scarey . . . indeed, more Christian!

Sports-A-Rama

We were wondering . . . and this involves you, too . . . just how "in shape" we Americans are, physically, that is. In Sweden everyone, the young and the old, are "body conscious" . . . constantly keeping in shape, by jogging daily through the parks and pathed woods, by going through routine gymnastics with machines and barbells, by puffing through fifty or sixty push-ups at a time! Imagine! Maybe we're too soft on ourselves . . . undisciplined . . . with flabby constitutions and muscles to match. Incentive and the "pudding-proof" are found in a good sports program . . . both public and private, by programming into our new "universal gym", but not just watching and complaining, but by participating actively in all kinds of sports. We're somewhat disappointed of late that it takes so much pushing to get teams and players, ones who will stick in there. East Germany proved to us that effort, discipline and incentive can turn a moderately small nation of people into a competitive force of athletes.

The Lancerettes celebrate a victory.

Becky Uebelhoer sets up the play.

The Lancerettes blasted their way to the top this year with a well-honed team of veterans who played a no-nonsense, heads-up ball game. Although severely shy of spectators at the games, St Mary's is proud of its girl athletes.

Laurie Wagner backhands a return as Mary Nawrocki watches for errors.

Kathy Patterson hammers a serve for St. Mary's.

Aw, c'mon, Becky, you can do better than that!

Basketball

In small schools, the Muse of Basketball Champions rarely knocks . . . and when she does it's not too loudly! But this year she rapped loudly at the gates of St. Mary's High, for we had championship material and these Lancers often demonstrated professional confidence and control of the basketball floor . . . a performance magnificent to see! Record crowds gathered in the gym to cheer their Number One team to victory. Congratulations, Mr. Woj, on your long-standing patience and outstanding training!

Mr. Woj "chats" with his team.

Mulcahy snows his form.

Dave Szymanski drops it in over Mindszenty.

Marc Meyers in on the drive.

Lancers rated 2nd in state

by BILL BLACKWOOD

Following a recent 80-77 victory over Walsh, St. Mary's Lancers found themselves ranked second among small schools in New York State, in the season's first high school basketball ratings. The undefeated Lancers will be at home against Lancaster tomorrow, Jan. 3, with the JV preliminary at 6:30 p.m., and will entertain Baker-Victory at 2 p.m. the following Sunday.

The ratings are determined by the New York State Sports-writers' Association, which [illegible] about 1,000 total enrollment, boys and girls. The rankings are imperfect, which the writers would be the first to admit, but they are the best means of state-wide comparison available, and help to sustain interest in high school sports.

Chuck Korbar of the Buffalo Evening News is organizer and president of the Association, which was founded in 1967, and Neil Kerr of the Syracuse Post Standard is the present coordinator.

As for ratings, there is good news and bad news for St. Mary's. The good news is that the association considers the championship team this season is going to lose about three games.

In the win over Walsh, St. Mary's shot 48 per cent from the field to 38 per cent for the Eagles, and had a 63-38 margin in rebounds. Thirty-four turnovers kept the Lancers from winning big over the veteran and accomplished Walsh teams. Although bothered by the press in the torrid final quarter, the Lancers refused to fold, and the 25 points they scored were enough to protect the 11-point lead they carried into the period.

Loecher waits beneath the rim as Gac shoots.

Cheerleaders applaud the team.

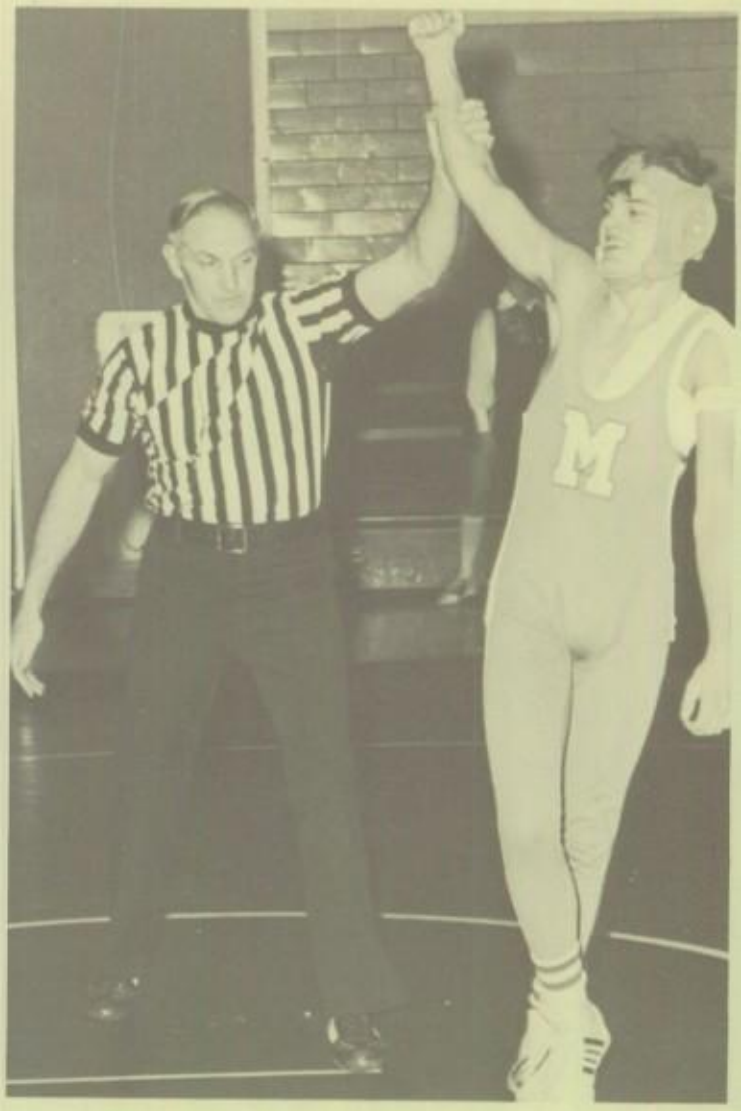
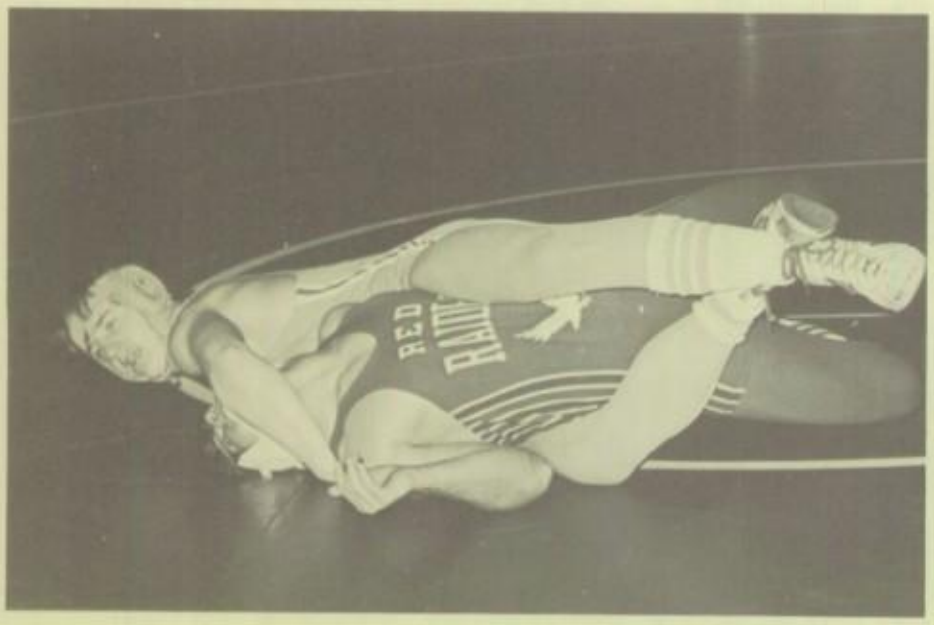
You know my Grandpa used to work in a pretzel factory!

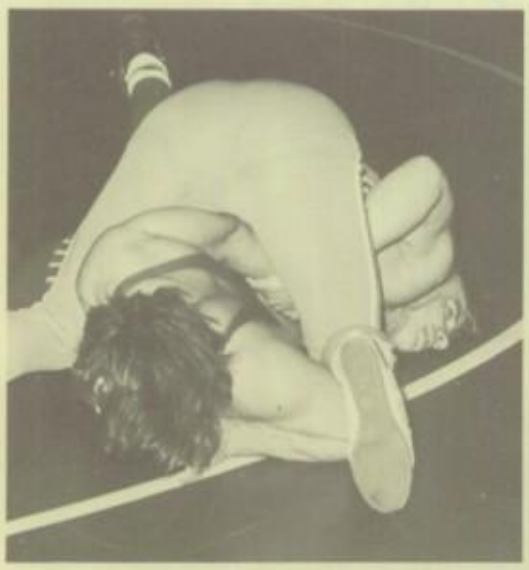


The "Ban-aid kid" strikes again!



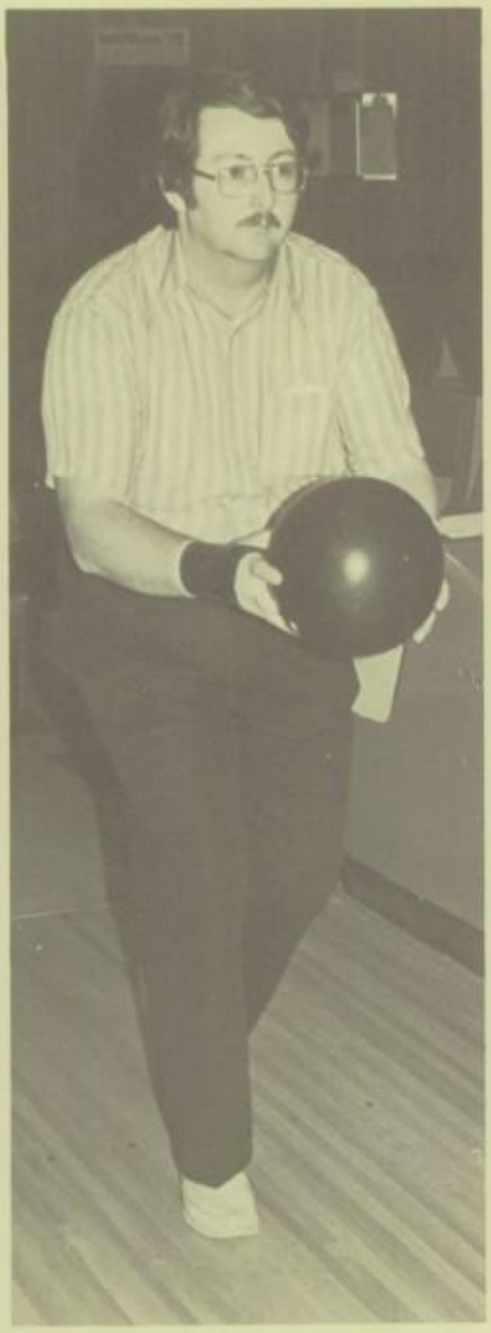
Did someone say "Uncle"?

Coach Rugani concentrates on the action.

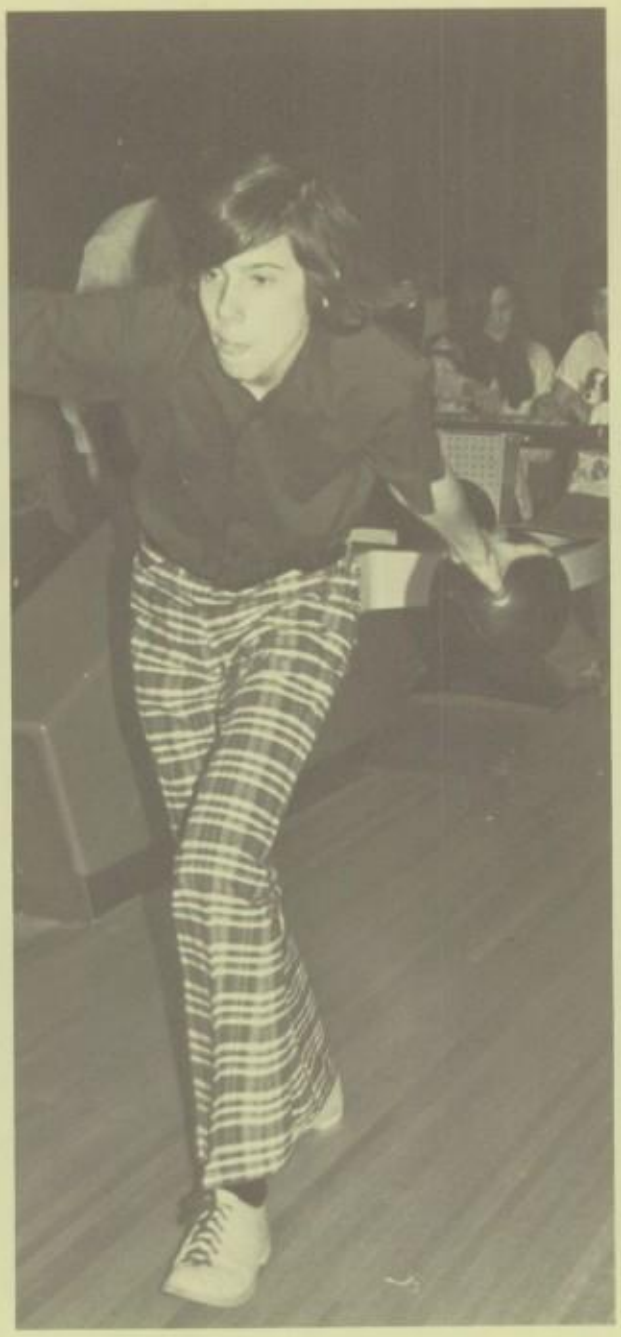


This is a funny way to "End" up!

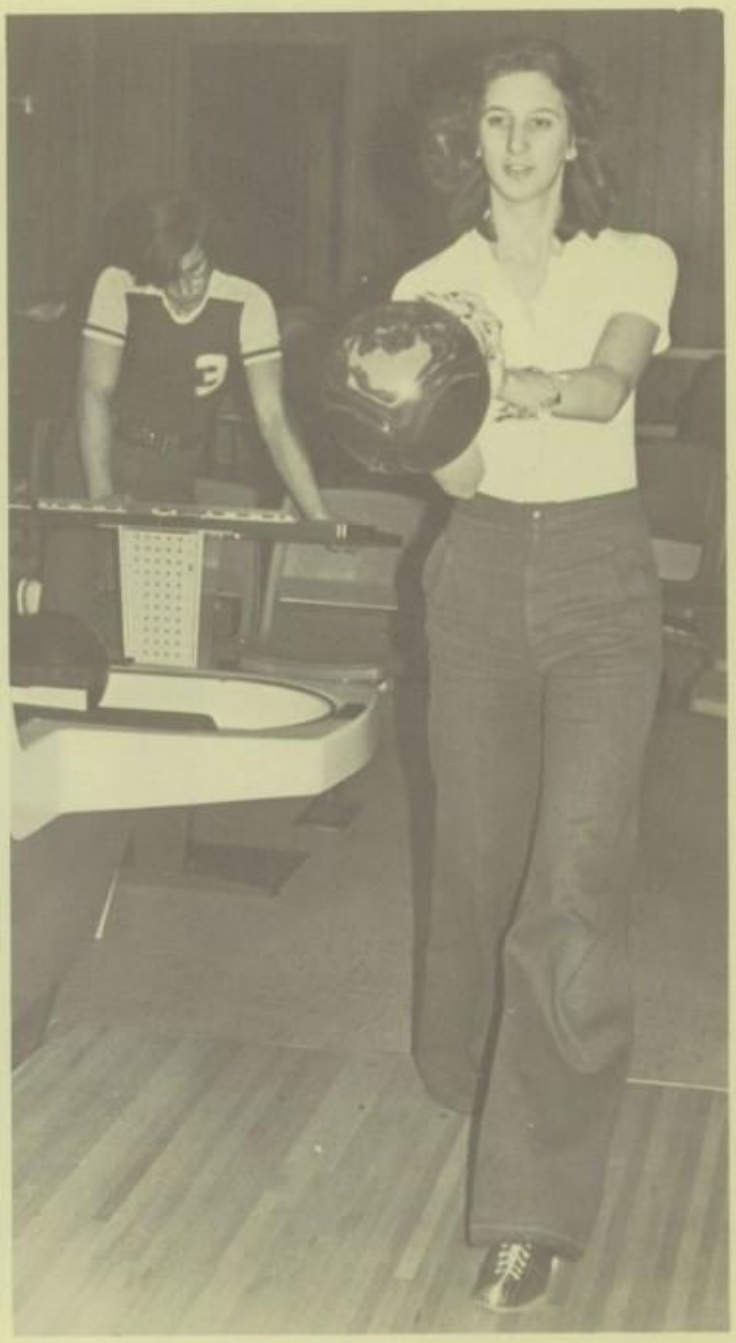
Keep up the enthusiasm, girls!



"When the big, big, Rigby comes Bob, Bob, Bobbing along."



Sticking out your tongue at the pins won't help!



All I gotta say is "This is a hell of a way to play marbles"!

Look at that! He even missed the gutter!

Blow up another baloon, Cher, this one's just about busted!

"Who said it had to be water?"

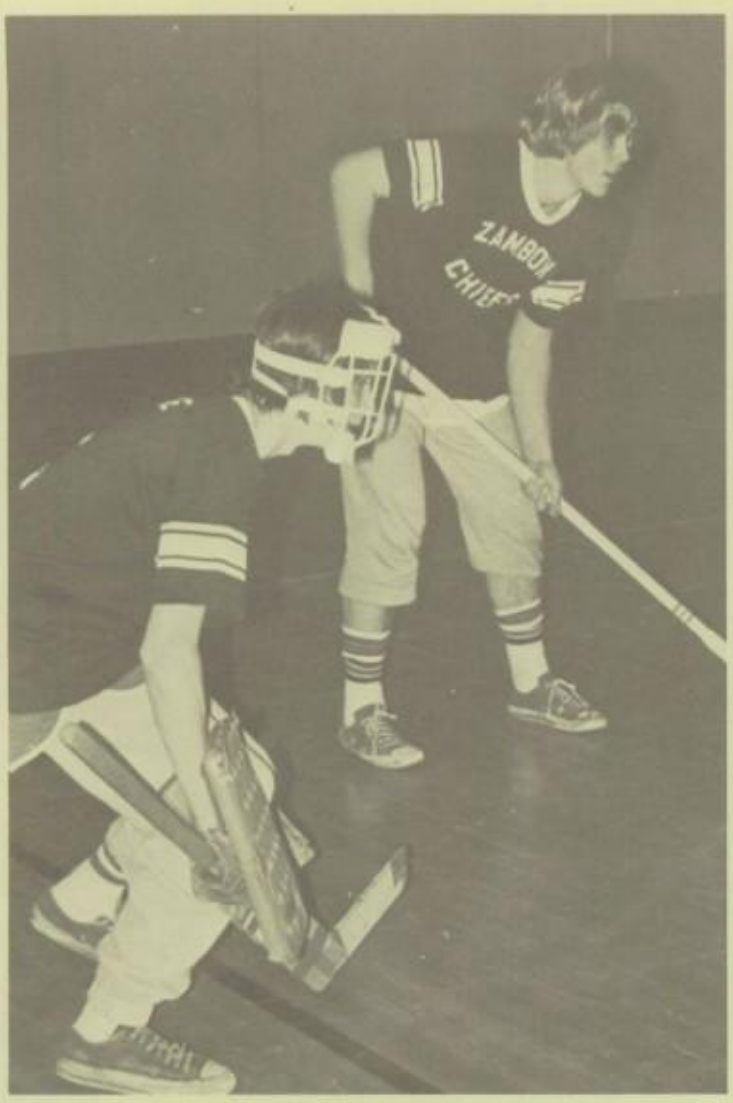
Is she supposed to hold hands, ref?

Now who didn't get the ball last time?

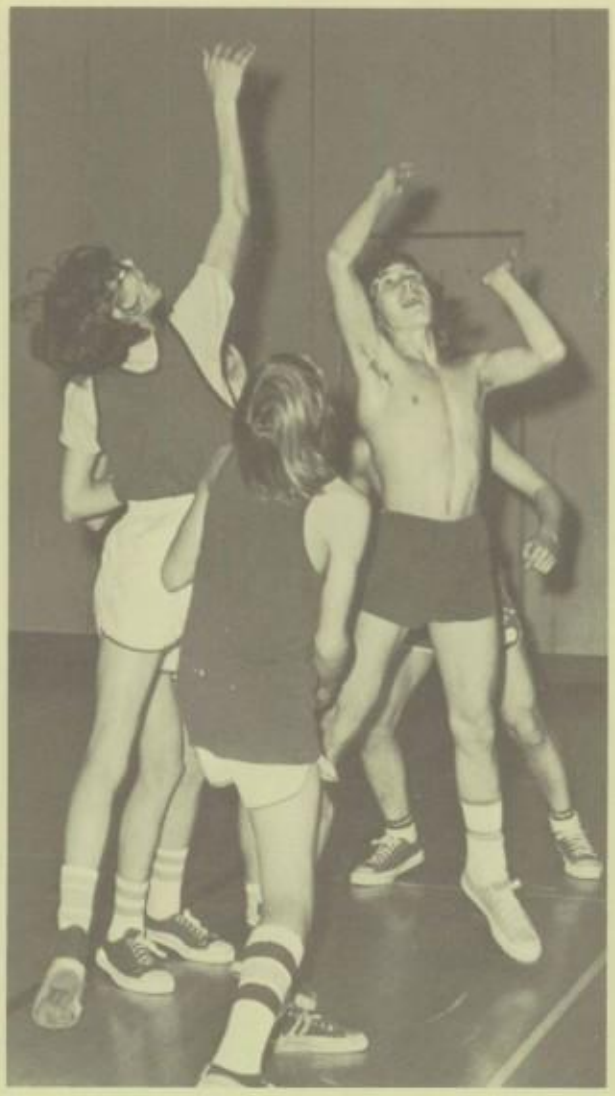
I think those uniforms are just divine, don't you?

Who nailed my sneakers to the floor?

Intramurals



Do you think this girls' team will get another score, Steve?



"It's got to come down sooner or later!"

Did anyone hear someone's pants rip?

All male ballet troupe.

And next game we used a puck, ok?

Companion Pieces

The Spider Web

She spins her web from inner strength
In baited areas,
In prison plots . . .
Connected strands that link like endless stairs
In flights above,
In depths below . . .
Unseparated silk that knits together inner thoughts
Invisible logic,
Translucent snare . . .
But morning dew like liquid truth lays bare
The terminals,
The centrals.
The Alpha and Omega.

Visit to the South

Lloyd Kramlich, SDS

The American Way Of Thinking.

"It doesn't fit; I can't put it on!"
"Oh, yes, you can," she said.
"But a button's lost,
The lining's torn!"
"What difference does it make?
What can't be seen is quite alright,
As long as the colors don't clash!"

"He insulted me; he hurt my heart!"
"Oh, that's alright," she said.
"But something's dead,
Within myself!"
"What difference does it make?
What can't be seen is quite alright,
As long as there's no blood shed!"

"I'm pregnant now; my boyfriends's mad!"
"But abortion's simple," she purr'd.
"But isn't that Killing life?"
"What difference does it make?
What can't be seen is quite alright,
The "laws" of the land chang'd that!"
